

REGIONAL URBAN FOREST CONFERENCE

Sponsored by the Alamo Forest Partnership

8:00 am to 12:30 pm

Friday, July 10, 2009 at

1901 S Alamo, San Antonio, Texas

The Alamo Forest Partnership is reaching out to the City of San Antonio and surrounding communities and asking you to join us for the 1st annual regional urban forest conference. Trees play a critical role in providing sustainable and livable communities and their impact does not stop at city limits or county lines. By coming together to discuss the issues, we can combine resources and expertise to improve the communities we live in.

Topics

Tree Inventories

Working with Growers to Increase Tree Species' Diversity

Trees and the San Antonio River Improvement Project

Trees and Energy

Round Table Discussion on Tree Issues Important to Your Community, Business and or Organization

The conference is free of charge thanks to CPS Energy, but registration is required and limited. Register at this website by July 7, 2009:
